Gen. Everson Plans To Resign Militia Post

ANSWERING the call of the Church, Maj. Gen. William G. Everson, Chief of the Militia Bureau, has announced his intention of retiring from his post and taking up duties as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Denver, Colo. Gen. Everson's retirement will not occur until the latter part of the year, after the completion of certain projects.

Gen. Everson has gained a reputation as a lecturer, writer and military organizer. He has served in the Spanish-American War and during the World War he saw service in France, Italy, Austria, Dalmatia, Serbia and Montenegro, and commanded the only American sector in Italy and all the United States troops east of the Adriatic Sea.

To Complete Projects

The projects which Gen. Everson wishes to finish before resigning are the completion of the National Guard camp building program in which over a million dollars are being expended; the completion of the equipping of the airplane squadrons; the visitation of the National Guard home stations and camps which he has not yet visited, and finally, the rounding out of the various provisions of the Militia Bureau budget for this year.

In speaking of this, Gen. Everson says: "Our present task is to complete certain projects here in Washington and with our field training programs, leaving a four-year program complete in a little over two years. This has been a glorious experience, a marvelous opportunity, and most delightful fellowship with people in the forty-eight States, Hawaii and Porto Rico."

Speaks of Church

In speaking of the church of which he will be pastor, Gen. Everson says: "The First Baptist Church of Denver is one of the leading organizations in our Baptist denomination, splendid record of steady progress, ready for outstanding service. One of the challenges will be to build a new church on their six beautiful lots across from the Colorado State Capitol—should be the largest between Chicago and Los Angeles."

The Call

It is of interest to note the enthusiasm and confidence with which the call to the Denver pulpit was made. There follow telegrams sent Gen. Everson recently:

"Denver, Colorado.
"At a large and enthusiastic meeting, First Baptist Church tonight you

Chaplains Elect New Officers at Meeting

THE sixth annual meeting of the Chaplains' Association, held in Washington, D. C., April 14 and 15, was an unqualified success, the Chief of Chaplains, Col. J. E. Yates, told the Army and Navy Journal. The number of chaplains in attendance was larger than ever before, and the general trend of the meeting, the reports and speeches were most gratifying, Col. Yates said. Elections of new officers were held, and the Chief of Staff, Gen. MacArthur, and the Assistant Secretary of War, Hon. F. Trubee Davison, spoke, as did the Chief of the Militia Bureau, Maj. Gen. William G. Everson.

The new officers are: President, Ch. William Hughes, ORC; vice president, Ch. Gustav Stearns, NG and ORC, and secretary, Ch. Howard E. Snyder, who was reelected to that office. Elected to the executive committee were: Ch. James E. Freeman, Ch. Harry C. Starr, Ch. Park W. Huntington, Brigadier, John J. Allen, and Ch. Benjamin A. Tintner.

Gen. MacArthur's Speech

The Chief of Staff, who spoke before the chaplains Wednesday morning, delivered one of the outstanding speeches of the meeting. Gen. MacArthur emphasized the excellent work the chaplains were doing as intermediaries between the military elements and the civilians in interpreting the true relationship between the two. He told how they disseminated the true intents and moral purposes of the present system of national defense. Gen. MacArthur said that this interpretation was in terms of patriotism and altruistic idealism. He concluded with the thought that sacrifice has, throughout the ages, as now represented the supreme act of soldiers.

Other Speeches

The relation of the chaplains to the National Guard was the topic of Gen. Everson's address before the Association. Ch. Tintner spoke of the relation of the chaplains to the parents of the CMTC students, and Mr. E. G. Vordenburg, representative of the National Recreation Association, told of the possibilities of cooperation with the communities to the CMTC students. At the get-together banquet held at the Burlington Hotel Tuesday evening Ch. Gustav Stearns gave his reminiscences of the war, and Maj. John D. Kilpatrick, QMC, gave a humorous talk.

Secretary Davison Speaks

That the work of the Chaplains' Corps constitutes a vital intellectual and moral force in the Army, that is indispensable, was one of the strong points of the address of Secretary Davison before the Chaplains' Association Tuesday. Extracts from Secretary Davison's speech follow:

"I think it can be truly said that our Army has never been a materialistic engine of destruction. Throughout its history it has been a highly idealistic force. It was created to safeguard great principles and those inalienable rights with which man was endowed by his creator.

"I doubt if there is any group in America that desires peace more ardently than the officers of the Army. That is because they have seen war at its worse. They are fathers and have a father's love and aspiration for their sons. Do you wonder that they are not only lending their tongues but also their life's blood to the end that every honest and practical effort be made to see to it that their sons be not subjected to the same horrors of battle that were experienced by their own generation of Americans?"

"I hold it one of the great missions

Alleged Wage Paring By QMC Denounced

ASSERTING that the Army Quartermaster Corps is setting a "bad example" to industry by paying less than the prevailing wage scale to employes engaged in construction at West Point, Representative LaGuardia (Republican, of New York) this week asked Secretary of Labor Doak to inform President Hoover of the facts in the case.

Representative LaGuardia declared that the Quartermaster Corps is paying from 58 to 75 cents an hour less than the prevailing wage scale of that locality.

Secretary Doak took the matter up with Secretary of War Hurley, who in turn asked Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, the Quartermaster General, for an explanation. Based on Gen. DeWitt's explanation Secretary Hurley has sent Secretary Doak a memorandum on the circumstances.

Representative LaGuardia's letter follows:

I am certain that the whole country is back of President Hoover in his effort to prevent a deflation of wages and lowering the American standard of living. Only greedy and selfish employers without vision will in this period attempt to decrease wages. It is my understanding that your Department has made a survey of the standard of wages and is keeping informed on unjustifiable wage reduction.

I, therefore, desire to submit a most disgraceful and flagrant disregard of prevailing rate of wages, which I believe you should lay before the President of the United States because, unfortunately, one of the Government's own departments is setting a bad example to industry and is placing the administration in a most ridiculous position. I appeal to you as the representative of labor in the executive branch of the Government and because all efforts on the part of labor with the War Department have been ignored.

I refer to the conditions existing on Government construction under the jurisdiction of the Quartermaster Department at West Point, N. Y. Conditions at West Point have been most unfair and unfavorable to labor for several years. The new buildings at West Point are being constructed by the War Department. There is no private contractor. Congress only recently passed a prevailing rate of wage law which requires all private contractors doing Government work to pay labor the prevailing rate of wages in the locality in which the building is being constructed. The least the Government can do is to follow the spirit and intent of that law. How can the President expect to get the cooperation of industries in maintaining wages when the War Department flagrantly disregards the policy and ignores the law requiring the payment of prevailing rate of wages on Government work.

To be specific, I desire to call your attention to the fact that skilled laborers, such as bricklayers, stone masons and plasterers are paid from 58 cents to 75 cents an hour less than the prevailing rate of wages in the West Point locality. I called this condition to the attention of the House on several occasions. Only recently when the House appropriated additional funds for construction, assurance was given that the exploitation of labor, the lowering of the standard of wages and the discrimination against union labor would cease at West Point.

The standard of the prevailing rate of wages for masons, bricklayers, carpenters and plasterers that I have taken

Congressional View On Army Bill Awaited

UNLESS opposition springs up within the Army itself, passage of the War Department accelerated promotion bill during the next Congress seems a reasonable prospect.

Designed to merely accelerate the flow of promotion without making permanent the increased number of officers in the higher ranks provided in the bill, favorable congressional reaction to the measure is expected. Those who have gone over the bill thoroughly believe that the proposal will receive legislative approval, whereas further attempts to permanently increase the percentages in the field grades would be doomed to failure.

What the position of Senator Reed and Representative James will be is, of course, vital to the success of the bill and some expression of opinion from them is eagerly awaited. Mr. James has not yet returned to Washington after his trip to Panama and has not had a chance to see the measure, but Senator Reed has the text of the bill and is giving his attention to it.

To date the reaction within the service seems distinctly favorable to the bill.

Judging from the expressions of Air Corps officers, the Corps will support the War Department bill. Air Corps officers who have studied the bill and its effect upon promotions within the Corps, favor the bill and believe that the rest of the members of their arm of the service will view the matter in the same light. Here and there, however, there is individual criticism of certain features.

Maj. Gen. James A. Fechet, Chief of the Air Corps, told the Army and Navy Journal this week that he favored the measure. "I think the MacArthur bill is a good bill," he said, "It should help the Army greatly as a whole and it would benefit the Air Corps. Of course we would like to see some special provision for us, for you know the better part of our officers entered during the war after a year in the training camp whereas officers of other arms spent but three months training. However, we would not wish to jeopardize the chances of a bill which gives relief to so many. In the past the enactment of a promotion bill has been continually held up by groups seeking special consideration, and it would be regrettable if any opposition of this sort is stirred up again."

Gen. Martin to Congress

Portland, Ore.—When Congress convenes next December the Third District of Oregon will be represented by Maj. Gen. Charles H. Martin, USA, ret. His background of a distinguished military career undoubtedly will be of inestimable value in helping the Congress to solve the problems of National Defense.

"During the period when I was Chief of the Personnel Division of the General Staff," Gen. Martin said this week in discussing his coming to Washington, "I was naturally in very close touch with all legislation concerning army personnel, and I followed it closely during the remainder of the time I was on the active list. Since my retirement, my interest in the service has in no degree diminished but my contact has naturally not been so close as it was before, and a considerable part of my time and energy have been given to my personal affairs and the various duties that have fallen to me as a member of this community in the life of which I have taken a somewhat active part.

"I understand that the War Department

Editors Praise Celebration of Army Day as Aid to National Defense

THE nation's press, in general, agrees that the celebration of Army Day is of value to national defense. It furthers understanding between the defenders and the people. It permits them to gain an excellent comprehension of the condition of the Army, and in doing so combats the wave of pacifism that threatens to weaken this nation dangerously.

"GEN. PERSHING'S 'Experiences' told the story of his personal campaign to organize and lead an American Army in the field," says the New York Times (Independent Democratic). "If an officer of the Regular Army is asked what the day should signify, he will reply that it is the lesson of readiness to defend the country. He will point out that, relative to population, we have one of the smallest armies in the world, and he asks that our people should bear this in mind when attempts are made to reduce the personnel below the nucleus from which expansion, when imperative, should start. Never was there an Army that interfered less with the processes of civil government. As a recurring anniversary, Army Day should have its lessons for both the people and their defenders."

"ON THIS anniversary of the declaration of war, it is especially appropriate to recall the utter unpreparedness of the United States in 1917," holds the New York Herald Tribune (Independent Republican). "We had just begun to fight in force when the Armistice arrived. What would have been our fate if others had not held the breach, it is disagreeable to contemplate. To make the picture more gloomy still, it appears that even this appalling lesson has not been thoroughly learned. A recent report of the inspector general of the Army, Gen. Drum, shows the Army garrisons as being 'dangerously weak' and indicates that unless civilian authorities are less parsimonious it will not be long before the Army sinks back to its low pre-war level. Army Day should be more than a pleasant gesture. It should remind the authorities in Washington of their duty toward this important instrument of national well-being."

"'ARMY Day' can be observed without in any way relinquishing our ambition for peace," says the Bayonne, N. J., Times (Democratic). "Our present Army, for all its latent effectiveness, is scarcely more than a nucleus around which to rally in time of war. It can be honored for its peace time pursuits, in which direction it is more active than most of us realize, as well as for the illustrious deeds and preparedness it typifies."

"WE ARE too prone to forget our soldiers," says the Altoona, Pa., Tribune (Independent). "We cheer them when they parade, we applaud them when they go into battle, but they have no place in our every-day thoughts."

"They should be accorded that recognition."

"The United States Army does many things besides fight, and it is for the purpose of focusing public attention and interest on the Army's extensive and varied peace-time activity that Army Day is conceived. The day serves as a reminder of our past debts to the Army, and of its present value to the national welfare."

"ARMY Day should help the country to the realization that its land forces are worthy of interest and respect and admiration in times of peace as well as 'when guns begin to shoot,'" notes the St. Paul, Minn., Pioneer Press (Independent)."

"THIS fourth annual Army Day, marking as it does the anniversary of America's entrance into the World War, has for one of its chief objectives the paying of tribute to the peace-time accomplishments of our military forces," avers the Worcester, Mass., Post (Independent). "In the placing of emphasis on the value of these works to the nation, and also in the inspiring of patriotism, this observance serves a useful and highly laudable purpose. The Military Order of the World War is to be commended in fostering these objectives."

"THE Army officer always has been silent about his service and the public is rather prone to forget the Army and its work," holds the New London, Conn., Day (Republican). "Army Day is not a day for war games nor for military pomp unless a parade can be called pomp. It is a day for the people to recall what the Army has done for the nation and that it is a great factor for peace. It is a day to get acquainted with this national service."

"EVEN so, history and experience admonish us against the pacific idealism of standing disarmed and unsupplied with those munitions of defense that prudence suggests and a sudden necessity may require of a rich and envied nation," observes the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution (Democratic). "Hence the wisdom of an annual 'Army Day' when we take thought for self defense and count the nation's minute men capable of rendering it. There is no threat of a militarist program in keeping our people prepared to preserve the national safety and in teaching our youth the arts and skill that may be needed for their country's safety from other marauding nations. Proper preparation for national defense is an insurance of peace and security; not of ambition for war and conquest."

"BUT the observance of this anniversary as Army Day, which was inaugurated several years ago to promote an intelligent appreciation of the value of our land forces, both in peace and war, has been helpful in combating pacifist propaganda," states the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Independent Republican). "Its observance today should include not only commemoration of achievements of the National Guard, Organized Reserves and Regular Army, but realization of their value as a safeguard against future emergencies."

"ARMY Day yet has a purpose, if only to build opposition to those pacifists who would take the core out of our trained fighting forces, but it cannot be called a conspiracy of militarists to recreate in war the glamour and romance which recent books and films are taking out of war," claims the Richmond, Va., Times Dispatch (Independent Democratic). "Light has lately been thrown upon the ghastliness and futility of war, bringing it home to mothers and fathers as Belleau Wood and the Argonne brought it home."

Wage Scales

for comparison is not that of New York City, but of the cities of Highland Falls, Newburgh and Middleburg in the immediate vicinity of West Point. These conditions were brought to the attention of the Secretary of War only recently by officials of the Bricklayers', Masons' and Plasterers' Union. I am informed that these officials were told by the Quartermaster's Office that they were acting under orders and would pay the prevailing rate of wages when ordered to do so. Self-respecting union-organized labor has been on the black list at West Point for a long time. Officials of unions have been barred on many occasions from obtaining information as to labor conditions at West Point.

During the present depression, the work in the building trades has been so slack that many of the trades have been compelled to adopt the rotation system of work on construction in order to divide the work among all members of the union and also prevent a reduction of the wage scale. There are sufficient men available of all building trades for the work at West Point and there is no justification for the reduced wages being paid at this very moment on these jobs.

The building trade unions can furnish all the men West Point will call for providing the prevailing rate of wages is paid. It may interest you to know that when the call went forth by the Red Cross for relief of the Mississippi flood victims, the stone masons, and the stone masons' helpers local unions of New York City in response to an appeal which I made to them, immediately donated $1,000 to the Red Cross. They always stand ready to respond to any appeal made by their government. It is impossible to explain to them why a government department takes advantage of the unemployment situation to reduce wages, especially when the law requires the payment of the prevailing rate and Congress has appropriated sufficiently to carry out the intent of the law.

I am reliably informed that the officers at West Point in charge of construction will state that the men are satisfied and content. That is exactly the same statement made by every exploiter and selfish employer of labor who now refuses to cooperate with the President of the United States and the government in maintaining the American wage scale. I state that these exploited workers at West Point are simply submitting to the pressure of hun-

"I trust that my knowledge of the Army gained through many years of service in various capacities, the ties of sentiment that bind me to it, my appreciation of the importance of the well being of its personnel, and my very genuine desire to be of assistance may be of some effect in accomplishing the betterments sought.

"Unity of purpose and effort on the part of all concerned will be necessary to secure desired results.

"The Army and Navy Journal, I know, will continue the valuable service which it has so freely rendered in the past; and will merit and receive the further appreciation of the personnel of the Army for its able efforts in their behalf."

Appointed Major General

MAJ. GEN. ROY HOFFMAN, who has just been commissioned in that grade and placed in command of the 45th Division, National Guard, has a long record of military service and professional success.

Gen. Hoffman, who was a brigadier general in the Reserve Corps at the time of his appointment, was born in Kansas in 1869. He received his education in the public schools and at the Kansas Normal College. He established the Guthrie Daily Leader, the first daily newspaper in the then Territory of Oklahoma. He was admitted to the bar in 1891.

Gen. Hoffman volunteered as a private in the Spanish-American War, served in the domestic and Indian troubles. He served on the Mexican Border and in the World War, receiving the French Order of Commander of the Legion of Honor and many other decorations. He has held many civil offices and was president of the Reserve Officers' Association for three terms.

Coast Artillery Journal

CONTINUANCE of the Coast Artillery Journal and its valuable work for the Coast Artillery Corps and continuance of Maj. Stewart S. Giffin, CAC, in the position of editor, was noted by the Army with gratification this week when its March-April issue was distributed.

It is a tribute to the executive council of the Coast Artillery Association that they are able to announce that in spite of the discontinuance of paid advertising they will be able to increase the editorial content beyond that originally contemplated and that due to the reduced frequency of issue (it will be issued bi-monthly, at least for the present) the quality of editorial content will be materially increased. Naturally, the achievement of these objects depends on the support of the Coast Artillery officers. The activities of the association and the publication should evoke the whole-hearted support of the corps. The offices of the association and the publication are maintained at 1115 Seventeenth street northwest, Washington, D. C.

The announcement concerning the policy decided upon, which is signed by Col. Joseph P. Tracy, CAC, vice president of the Association, is printed in the Coast Artillery Journal of current issue. After quoting the new law concerning employment in connection with publications carrying certain advertising, the announcement continues:

"The effect of this amendment was an immediate and staggering blow to the announced policy of the Association for the betterment and development of its official organ—the Coast Artillery Journal.

"The Executive Council of the Association met and considered various plans to meet the situation and to enable the Journal to continue along the lines indicated by the first two numbers of the present year.

"It was proposed to continue the Journal under the editorship of a retired officer without eliminating paid advertising from its contents. It was also proposed to continue as a monthly publication with an officer of the active list as editor, eliminating paid advertising. Other variations of these plans were considered and rejected due to impracticability from a financial viewpoint.

"In addition to the financial consideration which the Council gave to the situation the amendment was also considered with a view to determining the intent of Congress in inserting this amendment in the Army Appropriation Act. The Council does not believe that the amendment was designed to remove the service journals from the field of publications but to eliminate them from the advertising field. This Association will conform to the will of Congress as expressed in legislation without violating the letter or spirit of the law. The purposes of the Association as written into its Constitution are inconsistent with any petty spirit of resentment or evasion which might arise. Therefore the Council confined its deliberations to the consideration of plans which did not include the continuation of paid advertising. The plan adopted is as follows:

"The Coast Artillery Journal will continue to publish and disseminate professional knowledge to the members of the Coast Artillery Association.

"Its present editor will continue on this duty.

"It will carry no paid advertising.

"Due to the elimination of a considerable part of its income it will be necessary to adopt a bi-monthly schedule of publication, at least for the present.

"It will continue its affiliation with other service publications as a necessary and important feature of cost reduction.

"There will be no change in the format of the Journal nor will a lower quality of material be used in its fabrication.

"Its editorial content will be increased beyond that originally contemplated. The quality of editorial content will be materially increased due to reduced frequency of issue.

"The Council regrets the necessity of publishing the Journal as a bi-monthly. The loss of its advertising income will interfere seriously with the development program which had been planned for its future. Other means must be found to carry these plans to accomplishment. The Coast Artillery Journal is a vital element in carrying out the mission of the Coast Artillery Association.

"Members of the Association have never been requested to contribute a

New Radio Equipment

THOSE familiar with the old Pack Set, SCR-127, will be pleased to hear that it will shortly be replaced by a considerably smaller high frequency unit known as the SCR-163, while those who have been, or are, concerned with cranking the GN-29-A hand generator will be doubly gratified to know that a small one man generator, GN-35, which can be cranked with one hand, suffices to furnish all necessary power.

A comparison of the two sets may be of interest, it being explained that the sets are primarily for use between mounted units and that they form the main links of a Cavalry Division Radio Net. No general need for a range greater than forty miles is anticipated and consequently the power output of the new set was made less at the same time that the frequency of the radio waves was increased. This at once combined to reduce the weight of the set and its assembly.

As a comparison it is interesting to note that the GN-29-A generator weighed one hundred pounds, and the new GN-35 generator weighs twenty-four pounds. The old set was carried on four animals, the new one on two, with the possibility, by slight modifications of range requirements, of being carried on one animal. The weight of the old set as carried was 465 lbs. That of the new set will be approximately 250 lbs., with a future possible reduction of weight to 200 lbs.

single cent towards its support, either in the form of dues or otherwise. It was intended that the Journal would furnish the financial support which the Association would need. There is no doubt that the Journal would have been able to assume this obligation with every hope of success. The passage of this law introduces difficulties which are serious but not insurmountable.

"The Coast Artillery Journal is still the sole support of the Coast Artillery Association. It is now time for each member of the Association to bring his support to the Coast Artillery Journal. Each Association member should be a subscriber. The Association membership is fast approaching the 3,000 mark. With a subscription list of this same number the Journal will be able to resume its monthly appearance without curtailment in any particular and will enter into a much wider sphere of influence in the interest of the Coast Artillery Association and the ideals which it has set for accomplishment.

"Our members are urged to give this matter their most serious consideration to the end that this much needed support may be brought to the aid of the organ of the Association."

Mrs. Kenley Noted Writer

MRS. JULIE CLOSSON KENLY, wife of the late Maj. Gen. W. L. Kenly, and daughter of Brig. Gen. Henry W. Closson, is rapidly gaining the distinction of an outstanding authoress. Although the wife of an Army man and the daughter of another, Mrs. Kenly does not write of the Army.

Her best known book is "Green Magic," a nature study, published April, 1930, and chosen as the juvenile selection of the Scientific Book Club, for that month. This book was also recommended by the Library Association to libraries all over the country. Now, her latest book, "The Astonishing Ant," published April 10, 1931, has also been selected as the juvenile choice of the Scientific Book Club for April, 1931.

Both of the books, "Green Magic" and the "Astonishing Ant," were illustrated by her son, William Lacy Kenly, who with his brother, Henry Closson Kenly, served as pursuit pilot during the World War.

Mrs. Kenly published many short stories and poems many years ago. In 1923 she published "The Vision and the Wise Woman," and in 1929 she published "Strictly Personal," both novels.

Her husband, Maj. Gen. Kenly, served as Chief of Air Force in Washington, D. C., during the World War, receiving the Distinguished Service Medal for his service and being decorated by the French, English and Italian Governments.

Mrs. Kenly was married at Washington Barracks in 1893. She has a home in Holderness, N. H., where she spends most of her Summers. She frequently visits her sister in Washington. Another sister, Mrs. Whitney, is the wife of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Whitney, USA, ret.

Army Reserve Notes

GEN. CHARLES P. SUMMERALL was the featured speaker at the Annual Convention of the Georgia Department, Reserve Officers' Association, which was held at the Hotel DeSoto, Savannah, March 21-22.

Introduced by Brig. Gen. Robert F. Travis, of Savannah, the former Chief of Staff was never in better form, as he held the rapt attention of his audience, which included a number of officers who had served under his command during the war.

Speaking on the program with the General were: Col. Charles D. Herron, of the War Department; Col. Edgar J. Roberson, National Secretary; Maj. Wilson McK. Spann, representative of Fourth Corps Area Headquarters, and Capt. S. D. Bedinger, who gave a report on the membership activities of the Georgia Department during 1930-31.

Col. Fred C. Doyle, of Savannah; Lt. Col. Royal K. Greene, and Maj. Joseph B. Pate, of Atlanta; Capt. S. D. Bedinger, of Macon, and Capt. G. E. Cook, of Augusta, the Regular Officers on Organized Reserve duty in Georgia, attended the meeting.

Lt. Col. George L. Blossom, Fin. Res., was re-elected president by acclamation as a testimonial of the outstanding record of his administration.

Other officers elected with Col. Blossom were: Vice president, Maj. John C. Carter, Cav. Res. of Columbus; judge advocate, Maj. A. R. Fawcett, Inf. Res., of Savannah; chaplain, Maj. Frank L. Rosenthal, Chn. Res., of Columbus; historian, 1st Lt. C. B. McCullar, Inf. Res., of Milledgeville.

The president reappointed 1st Lt. Malcolm R. Dixon, FA-Res., of Macon, secretary-treasurer, and 2nd Lt. Raymond J. Delacroix, FA-Res., of Macon, assistant secretary.

A military ball Saturday evening, a boat ride Sunday morning followed by an oyster roast and fish fry at Thunderbolt concluded this most successful gathering.

Merchant Marine Academy

A PRONOUNCED step in advance relating to the training of American Merchant Marine officers, was made this week when the Secretary of the Navy, following a request of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, approved the loan of the USS Procyon, naval auxiliary ship, to the State of New York, for use as a training ship for the New York State Merchant Marine Academy, to replace the gunboat Newport. The Procyon's name will be changed to USS Empire State.

The Procyon will be supplied to the State of New York in accordance with a Federal statute which authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to furnish a suitable vessel of the Navy, with all equipment, to certain ports of the United States upon application of the Governor of the State concerned. Inasmuch as the New York State Legislature recently enacted legislation permitting boys residing in other States to enter the New York Merchant Marine Academy, the training to be accomplished aboard the Procyon takes on a national aspect.

From 1908 to the present date, the Newport, a barkentine rigged steam vessel of 1010 displacement, built in 1897 with a complement of 100 merchant marine cadets, has been used by the State of New York as a training ship and has been considered by those in charge of training cadets to be too small, obsolete and inadequate for the purpose. Steps to replace her have been under way for some time.

It is understood that the Newport will proceed to the West Coast this Summer and that the crew of the Newport will transfer to the USS Procyon, which was decommissioned by the Navy on March 31 at the Puget Sound Navy Yard. The Newport will be returned to the Navy and decommissioned there and the Procyon will be brought to New York, where she will take the place of the Newport at the New York Navy Yard.

Given Reserve Commissions

Service School Policy

(From the New York Times, April 11, 1931.)

To the Editor:

Press dispatches state that Secretary of War Hurley has issued an army order directing that some of the younger officers of the combatant arms be allowed to attend the service post-graduate schools of other combatant arms. Presumably this privilege will be extended to officers who, since their graduation from West Point or entry into the service, have completed the year's post-graduate course at the service school of their own arm.

The new policy of the Secretary of War will be welcomed in the army and elsewhere. There is no doubt that the work of army officers is heavier and more difficult than it was a few years ago—and the army more efficient; but it is also true that continued duty with small peace-time units of one arm tends to become a mere routine. Attendance at a school of another arm, probably to be followed later by responsible duty with that arm, will not only assist in giving officers a knowledge of the powers and limitations of all arms but also will stimulate the officers in a manner that will make peace-time service more interesting. Did not Kinglake, in his book "The War in the Crimes," attribute most of the troubles with the British Army, including mismanagement of the supplies, the lack of hospital and other equipment, and the great suffering of the soldiers, to the fact that many if not most of the responsible officers had had long service in garrison in peace time?

WILLIAM C. RIVERS.

Major General, U. S. A. (retired).
New York, April 8, 1931.

Hold Up New Submarine

THE Secretary of the Navy has announced that opening proposals from private shipbuilding companies for the construction of the USS Cuttlefish (ex-V-9) originally scheduled for April 16, will be postponed until decision has been made by the Comptroller General on the question of materials to be incorporated in the submarine's construction.

The decision was requested as a result of a clause in the Naval Appropriations Act for the fiscal year 1932, reading as follows:

"That in the expenditure of appropriations in this Act the Secretary of the Navy shall, unless in his discretion the interest of the Government will not permit, purchase or contract for, within the limits of the growth, production, or manufacture of the United States, notwithstanding that such articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of the United States may cost more, if such excess of cost be not unreasonable."

The USS Cuttlefish is the last of the nine Fleet submarines authorized in 1916. Six of these ships are now in commission, the seventh is approximately one-third complete at the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H., and the construction award for the eighth ship of this type was awarded in February to the Portsmouth yard.

To Recruiting Duty

ORDERS have been issued to Capt. John S. Abbott, USN, commanding the USS Medusa, repair ship, to duty as Recruiting Inspector, Central Recruiting Division, Chicago, Ill. Capt. Abbott will have supervision over recruiting in the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska.

To Command Texas

CAPT. JULIUS C. TOWNSEND, USN, Captain of the Yard, Philadelphia, Pa., has been ordered detached from that duty about May 1 to command the USS Texas, flagship of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Fleet.

Cut Clothing Cost

A REDUCTION of 21 per cent from the price list of December, 1930, in the issuing price of clothing for the enlisted personnel of the United States Navy will become effective on June 30, 1931. This reduction is due to extensive purchases made by the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts at the present low market prices of textiles and other commodities and to the decreases in the cost of manufacture at the Naval Clothing Factory, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This reduction will be the second to be established within the fiscal year, the first one was made in January, 1931, when a five per cent reduction was effective. In December, 1930, the cost of the sailors' prescribed uniform outfit, known as a "Full bag" was $110.71. In January, 1931, this was reduced to $105.12 and on June 30, 1931, the cost will be further reduced to $89.47. Specific examples of this reduction are: overcoats are reduced from $21.00 to $13.50, a dress blue uniform, jumper and trousers, from $14.20 to $11.50, and blankets from $6.80 to $5.00.

Adm. Burrage to Retire

REAR ADM. GUY HAMILTON BURRAGE, USN, Commandant of the Norfolk Naval District, will be detached from that duty on June 14 and relieved of all active duty upon reaching the statutory retirement age of 64 years. Rear Adm. William D. MacDougall, USN, Commander Base Force, will succeed Rear Adm. Burrage.

Rear Adm. Burrage was born in Lowell, Mass., June 14, 1867, and was appointed to the Naval Academy from Massachusetts. He was commissioned ensign July 1, 1889, and was given a permanent commission as rear admiral in June, 1920.

Adm. Burrage served as President of the Board of Inspection and Survey with additional duty as President of the Joint Merchant Board from 1923 to 1926, and in December, 1926, was commissioned Commander, United States Naval Forces in Europe, with the rank of vice admiral. He was ordered to duty as Commandant, Norfolk Naval District, with additional duty as Commandant, Naval Operating Base, Hampton Roads, Va., April 13, 1928.

Naval Dental School Honored

AN invitation to designate an officer of the Naval Dental Corps as official representative of the Naval Dental School at future meetings of the American Association of Dental Schools, was recently received by Rear Adm. C. E. Riggs (MC), USN, Surgeon General of the Navy, from the Secretary of the Association.

As attendance at the meetings of this Association is restricted to official representatives of accredited civilian dental colleges of high educational standards, the invitation received by the Surgeon General is regarded as recognition by the nation's prominent civil dental educators of the advanced standards of post graduate instruction being provided at the Naval Dental School, and an acknowledgement of effective endeavor to improve dental service for naval personnel.

Nautilus at Washington

FOLLOWING the completion of her deep submergence tests, the USS Nautilus, newly constructed fleet submarine, spent this week at the Washington, D. C., Navy Yard during which she was host to hundreds of visitors.

Last week the Nautilus, formerly the V-6, attained a depth of 336 feet during submergence tests, which is claimed to be a record. She left Washington yesterday for her home port, San Diego, and is due there May 9.

The dimensions of the Nautilus are: Length over all, 371 feet; breadth, extreme, 33 feet 3 inches; draft, 15 feet 11 inches; displacement, surface, 2,760 tons; submerged, 3,960 tons. Keel laid Aug. 2, 1927. Authorized by Act of Congress, Aug. 29, 1916.

Quarters available: Officers, 9; chief petty officers, 9; other enlisted men, 70. The Nautilus was built at the Navy Yard, Mare Island, California, launched on March 15, 1930, and placed in commission on July 1.

Lt. Comdr. Thomas J. Doyle, USN, is in command.

To Start Work on Air Base

CONSTRUCTION of the new lighter-than-air base at Sunnyvale, Calif., will probably be started by the middle of the Summer, it is stated at the Navy Department. Plans for the station are practically completed and the $5,000,000 project should be soon under way.

In about a month's time bids for the erection of the giant hangar will be called for and specifications issued for the construction of other buildings for the base. Negotiations are still being carried on with the City of San Francisco for the tract of land offered as the searching of titles has been of some difficulty.

Construction of the hangar is expected to take between 15 and 18 months, and the building should be ready for use by the time the second of the two airships is completed. While ground plans of the $5,000,000 station have been worked out, actual design work on the many other structures to be built at Sunnyvale has not been started yet. Construction of the industrial buildings, sewerage and water systems, and other facilities of the station probably will not start until the following fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1932.

New Powder Depot

WITH the announcement that bids will be opened on June 17 for the development of the Naval Ammunition Depot at Oahu, Hawaii, the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, has taken the second major step toward providing the Navy with modern ordnance storage facilities.

Following the disastrous explosion at the Naval Ammunition Depot at Lake Denmark, N. J., on July 10, 1926, it was recommended by a joint Army and Navy Board that in addition to improvements at several existing stations, three new ammunition depots be provided, at Hawthorne, Nev.; Oahu, Hawaii, and Mariveles, Philippine Islands.

In the Deficiency Act of May, 1928, Congress authorized this program, at a limit of cost of $9,179,500.00 and made an initial appropriation for starting work. The Ammunition Depot at Hawthorne, Nev., which was the first major project undertaken, was placed in commission Sept. 15, 1930. The station ranks as one of the finest developments of its kind in the world.

The development of the station in the Hawaiian Islands has been delayed by long drawn out condemnation proceedings in the Hawaiian courts for the acquisition of the site. Decision was recently rendered, and the funds for payment have been turned over to the Department of Justice for deposit with the court, pending action on appeal, thus clearing the way for starting actual construction.

The station, which will rival Hawthorne in size, although differing somewhat in character, will cost approximately $3,800,000.00. It is planned to award the contract and proceed with the work immediately so that the station will be ready for occupancy during 1933.

Capt. Overstreet to Retire

CAPT. LUTHER M. OVERSTREET, USN, who has had 38 years service in the United States Navy, will retire from active duty on Aug. 1 on account of physical disability.

Capt. Overstreet was born in Woodhull, Ill., Nov. 8, 1873, and was appointed to the Naval Academy from Nebraska. During the Spanish-American War, he was attached to the battleship Oregon and made the famous trip from the West Coast to join Adm. Sampson's squadron in the blockade of Cuban ports and in the Battle of Santiago.

Capt. Overstreet is a graduate of the Naval War College. He was awarded a Navy Cross for his service during the World War.

In December, 1922, he was appointed a member of the Naval Mission to Brazil. After four years service in Brazil, he returned to the United States to command the battleship Wyoming. In January, 1929, he was assigned to duty as Captain of the Yard, Navy Yard, New York, and in January, 1930, was appointed Assistant Commandant, 3rd Naval District, headquarters, New York. He was detached from that duty in June, 1930, and has been under treatment at the Naval Hospital and on sick leave since that time.

Davis Commends Navy

THE following message was received today by the Navy Department from the Governor General of the Philippines, Hon. Dwight F. Davis, following completion of his tour of the East Indies aboard USS Pittsburgh, completed yesterday:

"For the Secretary of the Navy.

"Upon the completion of my cruise of over six weeks to neighboring countries in the Far East in the Pittsburgh I desire to express my appreciation for the cooperation of the Navy Department in placing that vessel at my disposal, thus making the trip possible. Adm. McVay was most attentive in arranging the details of the trip and in many ways provided for our additional comfort due to his thoughtfulness. The Pittsburgh was efficiently handled throughout the cruise, the schedule was maintained without delay and the members of the party and myself were made comfortable due to the continued and courteous efforts of Capt. Halsey Powell, USN, his officers and men of the crew.

"(Signed) DAVIS,
"Governor General."

Visits were paid by the Governor General on the USS Pittsburgh to the following ports: Saigon, French Indo-China; Bangkok, Siam; Singapore, Straits Settlement; Belawan, Deli, Sumatra, Batavia, Java; Surabaya, Java; Bali, Java; Macassar, Celebes, and Sandakan, British North Borneo. After completion of this, her last cruise in Asiatic waters, the Pittsburgh will sail for home, via the Mediterranean.

Comptroller General Decisions

A-35880. Private property damaged in the military service. Where private property of an officer of the Army is damaged while being moved from quarters which have been terminated, to his private residence, the damage did not occur "during travel under orders" and there is no authority for reimbursement of the estimated cost of repair under the act of March 4, 1921, 41 Stat. 1436.

QMC Reorganization

IN ORDER to provide more Quartermaster Corps enlisted personnel for duty at posts and stations and to equalize the distribution thereto, the Quartermaster Corps will be reorganized prior to July 1, 1931, according to War Dept. Circular No. 14. It is understood that this is a change in allotments caused by the inequality resulting from the general shifting of personnel during the last six or seven years when the last allotments were made. The chief effects of this reorganization will be felt by the enlisted men as appointments will be suspended until the surplus has been absorbed.

In the course of the reorganization the following units will be made inactive on dates prior to June 30: Quartermaster sections now allotted to the Headquarters of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, Hawaiian, Panama Canal and 1st Cavalry Divisions; Headquarters of the Division Quartermaster Trains of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, Hawaiian and Panama Canal Divisions; the 2nd, 10th and 11th Motorcycle Companies; the 4th, 6th and 25th Wagon Companies.

All allotments of enlisted personnel now in effect are rescinded, effective April 30, and those shown in the circular are substituted for them.

Enlisted personnel will be redistributed by transfer in grade and specialist rating by corps area and department commanders. The redistribution will include the personnel of units rendered inactive or reduced in strength, and will include excess personnel. After the effect of this reorganization is determined lists of surplus non-commissioned officers of the first four grades, and lists of vacancies will be prepared by the corps area and department commanders. The first list will show qualifications, and preference for station elsewhere, and the second will show qualifications desired in non-commissioned officers to fill such vacancies and whether or not quarters are available for married men.

All promotions and new appointments of enlisted men except vacancies in the first three grades, other than for first sergeants, which are filled by appointment made by the Quartermaster General, are suspended. The additional allotment of technical sergeants will not be filled except as excess first sergeants are absorbed.

Promotions and new appointments will not be resumed in all grades and specialists' ratings other than to the grade of first sergeant and to the fourth grade until personnel is redistributed in the first four grades. No vacancies in the grade of first sergeant will be filled until all excess first sergeants are absorbed. Promotions and new appointments to both grades and specialists' ratings will be made to fill any vacancy in any allotment to any corps area or department at large, to any QMC unit or detachment, or to any exempted station or activity without the prior authority of the commander of the corps area or department. Such authority may be granted only when considering all allotments of personnel to units and activities within the geographical limits of his command as if the aggregate thereof was made to one organization, that is to company, battery or troop, such promotion or new appointment would be authorized by the provisions of Section III, General Orders No. 9, War Dept., 1929.

Test Anti-Aircraft Mounts

THE T2 and T3 75 mm. gun anti-aircraft mounts are undergoing a thorough test at Ft. Bragg, N. C., to determine their mobility and effectiveness. Firing tests were conducted last week on a target towed by an airplane at heights ranging above and below a mile, using a Vickers director. This test was to determine accuracy and the most efficient rate of fire. It is believed that with a modified form of director the factor of accuracy could be increased. Tests were also conducted to determine the speed at which the mounts could travel over varying road conditions, and also how they stood up under all conditions of travel.

Tests were also conducted on ground targets, using a converted Vickers director and firing on a towed target from all three positions. The three positions are, from a truck, from the mount's own wheels, and the mount when emplaced on its trailer and outrigger. The T2 has a split trail and one outrigger, in effect giving it three legs while the T3 has a split trail also and two outriggers, giving it four legs.

The target was towed from 30 to 45 miles per hour, and it is understood the tests were very satisfactory.

Tests have recently been conducted on gliders released from airplanes. It is believed that the use of gliders as targets will be much more satisfactory than a towed target because the necessity of a long tow rope makes the behavior of the towed target sluggish. On the other hand, it is believed the glider will behave more like an actual airplane.

You can't kill D.K. with Pistols

When the germs of D. K. (decay) get into battle formation and begin to attack your teeth and gums—they make an enemy that's hard to combat. They do no fighting out in the open—their attacks are hidden until too late. That's why, if you care a snap about your teeth, you will form your plan of action accordingly.

Get a tube of Forhan's—let this scientific dentifrice become your daily ammunition. Cleanse your teeth and brush your gums with it regularly. Don't wait until you are graying at the temples, when the odds of your having pyorrhea are 4 out of 5. Use Forhan's now. It was originated by a dentist and contains a preparation long used in the treatment of gum disorders. Forhan's is at every Post Exchange and Commissary for your convenience.

SATURDAY, APRIL 18, 1931

"Barring a few exceptions and a temporary post-war increase which stopped in 1922, the men in Army, Navy and Marine Corps, are working under the same wage scale today as in 1908."—NORTHAMPTON, MASS., EVENING HERALD.

IT IS GRATIFYING TO note that the War and Navy Departments are active in the matter of pay as well as promotion. The combined efforts of these two important branches of the Government should stimulate the enactment of the legislation so important for the morale of the services. Thanks to the pressure exerted by Secretary Adams and Congressman Britten, Congress cleared up to some extent the promotion situation in the Navy. Now the Secretary of War is displaying a keen interest not in discussion but in action in the matter of Army promotion reform. In addition, both Secretaries are behind the plans for improving pay conditions. Under the circumstances, it will be difficult for the President to withhold his support of the relief which is demanded by the cost of living.

WE ARE TOLD THE DEFICIT at the end of the present fiscal year will be so great that the President has been forced to give strict instructions for the observance of economy in the preparation of the budget for the fiscal year 1932-33. The Services always have been careful to submit only estimates of sums which are imperatively needed. They will pursue the same policy this Summer. But we may point out that by the time Congress next Winter shall have enacted the appropriation bills, the depression, which is now lifting, will have substantially disappeared. Moreover, the extraordinary appropriations made for the relief of unemployment no longer will be necessary. Thus, it may be confidently expected that the Treasury will be in a condition to stand the additional expense involved in a pay increase. We may point out further that the business men of the country who pay the taxes are among the most earnest advocates of decent compensation for the commissioned and enlisted personnel. We urge all those interested in this important matter to impress upon their communities and especially upon members of the Senate and House the necessity of the legislation and that further delay is increasing the hardships from which the officers and men and their families are suffering.

JUST WHAT WILL COME out of the study of the proposal to consolidate the Coast Artillery and Field Artillery, which the War Department is making, it is impossible to forecast. The House Appropriations Committee was responsible for the recurrence of the idea, and, as we have explained in our news columns, the Department is carrying out the wishes of members of that body. It is important that no mistake be made and that continuance of the two branches as at present or their consolidation be determined upon the best interests of the country and the effectiveness of our national defense. We are anxious that all the light possible be thrown upon the subject. It ought not to be forgotten that after the War Department's study is completed, Congress will give it and its recommendations consideration. We do not believe the Appropriations Committee will be allowed to make the final determination. The matter involved is not primarily one of appropriations; it is that of policy. Therefore, the House Military Committee, under the chairmanship of Congressman James, and the Senate Military Committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Reed, will be the deciding factor. To inform the members of those committees and thus enable them to act properly, we reiterate our request for the views of the Service.

WE REITERATE THAT WITH NO realization of the broad streams of national interests which are surging beneath the surface, disarmament advocates are emitting propaganda in anticipation of the 1932 international conference. They refuse to note the effect, for example, of the Austro-German trade agreement upon the Franco-Italian naval negotiations; the apprehension of France that Germany is preparing for an European combination which will offset the alliances formed by the Paris Government; the activity of England, which wants to offset the strength of the French bloc; the continued hostility of Bolshevism to Capitalistic governments, and the anti-American campaign in Russia based upon the canard that the grain purchased by the Hoover Farm Board is to serve as a supply for armies to invade that country. Rather do those who are honestly pacifistic in view and those who make a living from propaganda prefer to think of disarmament only in terms of guns and warships. In the midst of the superficial discussion which is taking place, it is refreshing to hear the vigorous views expressed by Henry Cabot Lodge, son of the late Senator from Massachusetts. Mr. Lodge is an editorial writer on the New York Tribune. Appearing before the Foreign Policy Association in New York, the membership of which obviously is for disarmament, Mr. Lodge predicted there would be little concretely achieved by the United States at the conference "because of the low state of our defense and the purely European nature of the problems to be discussed." The editor declared that Congress is a "better reducer" than treaties, and added that the Army has approached the disgraceful "pre-war stage." If others of the courage of Mr. Lodge were to tell the people the facts, we believe our national defense would receive more adequate consideration and our position at future conferences be considerably strengthened.

ASK THE JOURNAL

SEND your queries to the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL QUESTION EDITOR and an answer will be given as soon as possible after receipt either in this column or by mail. Questions relative to living conditions at Army posts or Navy shore stations will be answered in detail by letter.

W. P.—No campaign bar was issued for service with the American Expeditionary force in Siberia during the World War. However, a special clasp to wear below the Victory Medal is provided and such may be obtained by writing to the Adjutant General's Office, War Department, Washington, D. C.

C. H. S.—The Soldiers' Home in Washington, D. C., is the only one of the Soldiers' Homes in the United States which is under the jurisdiction of the War Department. The other eleven homes come under the Veterans' Bureau. This fact is probably what gave rise to the idea that it was not controlled by the U. S. Government.

Admission to the Soldiers' Home in Washington, D. C., is limited to veterans of the Regular Army and this includes Spanish-American War and World War veterans if they served with a Regular Army unit. The other Soldiers' Homes, however, admit members of the voluntary armies.

W. F. N.—At the present time no plans have been formulated as to appointments to the grade of warrant officer, when such appointments will be resumed. Consequently, it is not known as to whether there will be an examination to determine eligibility for such appointment or whether the old eligible list will be used. There are at present 160 warrant officers in excess of the authorized number and as the attrition has slowed down somewhat, the grade will not be at its authorized strength until probably some time in 1933.

L. J. R.—We are informed by the Office of the Quartermaster General that you are number 46 on the eligible list for promotion to technical sergeant, Supply. It is rather unlikely that you will be promoted before the next list of eligibles is made up in November, as all who make a higher grade than yours on the next examination, will go ahead of you. It would probably be to your advantage to take the examination again, we are advised by that office.

G. J. G.—There was no campaign medal issued for service in China between 1911 and 1914. A campaign medal was issued for the China Relief Expedition of 1900 but we are informed by the Adjutant General's Office that there was no medal for service in China during the years you mentioned nor are persons who served during that time entitled to wear the medal issued for the Boxer Rebellion.

N. J. W.—The Adjutant General's Office informs us that there is nothing in Army Regulations which makes it mandatory for an enlisted man with 30 years' service who is physically fit to retire.

Although an enlisted man is entitled upon retirement to transportation at Government expense back to the place of enlistment, this benefit does not extend to the dependent members of his family.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Inactive Units of the Regular Army.—Assignment of Regular Army personnel to inactive units of the Regular Army, although desirable, will not in the future be regarded as mandatory, under the terms of a letter sent out this week by the Adjutant General of the Army. The letter reads as follows: "In letter from this office dated Jan. 14, 1927 (AG 320.2, 12-29-26, Misc.-C), subject: 'Inactive Units of the Regular Army,' a project was initiated by the War Department to provide for a more rapid mobilization of inactive units of the Regular Army (1) through the assignment thereto of Regular Army personnel on duty with the R.O.T.C. and the Organized Reserves, and (2) through the association of Regular Army inactive units with colleges and universities. The success of this project in many communities where conditions are favorable warrants its continuation, and it is desired that corps area commanders continue to take full advantage of this means of insuring the effective mobilization of inactive Regular Army units. In view of the fact, however, that in a number of instances such Regular Army personnel must be utilized in other capacities under the present general mobilization plan, such assignment will not, in the future, be regarded as mandatory."

To Confer on Artillery Materiel, Mechanized Force.—A representative of the Office of the Chief of Field Artillery has gone to Ft. Eustis, Va., to confer with the commander of the Mechanized Force and other officers, in order to gain comprehensive knowledge concerning the mobility and capabilities of the artillery materiel attached to that unit.

While there are many opinions concerning the various items of artillery materiel, it is necessary, in order to plan their most efficient use, to gain definite, crystallized views from the experienced men who have been working with such them. The information sought deals with every conceivable function of the mechanized artillery materiel, how much ammunition will be needed for the different types of guns and how much may be carried. What type of anti-aircraft protection is most likely to be needed. The rapidity of travel of the various units, the type of communications best suited to such a force. There also arises the question of the best type of prime mover, and its most ideal construction. Then, getting away from the offensive angle, there arises the question of how much flank protection would be needed, where the infantry could not be depended upon for support. The question of guns is one of importance, and its answer is based largely upon the decisions in regard to the probable missions of a mechanized force. Light guns, of course, are more mobile, whereas, heavy guns have the longer range. This is also dependent on the types of shells, shrapnel, solid shot or gas, which may be found the more desirable. There are, too, a varying number of missions which a mechanized force might be assigned, such as combative reconnaissance, or the spearhead of an attack through a lightly manned enemy line, where it is desirable to know what part the artillery can play. It is to solve such questions as these that this conference is to be held with the officers of the Mechanized Force. The experience which the latter officers have had will contribute largely to the knowledge of the effectiveness of the artillery materiel of that force, it is believed.

Officers of Coast Survey and Public Health Service Eligible for Naval Reserve Commissions.—Officers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, Public Health Service and Lighthouse Service are eligible for membership in the United States Naval Reserve. The Acting Secretary of the Navy has approved an opinion of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy holding that when not operating as a part of the Naval service pursuant to law the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Lighthouse Service and the Public Health Service are civil branches of the public service; that it is legal for members of the Naval Reserve to hold appointments in the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Lighthouse Service and the Public Health Service when those organizations are not operating as a part of the naval service pursuant to the law; and that members of the Naval Reserve Force who, on July 1, 1925, held appointments in the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Lighthouse Service or the Public Health Service were automatically transferred to the Naval Reserve by operation of law, and their retention in the Naval Reserve is not rendered illegal by reason of the fact that they may still hold such appointments.

March of Mechanized Force to Ft. Bragg, N. C.—The Mechanized Force at Ft. Eustis, Va., will start May 13 on its first practice march. On its march to Ft. Bragg, N. C., of about 300 miles, the column will pass through:

Denbigh, Driver, and Suffolk, Va.; Corapeake, Sunbury, Roduco, Winton, Murfreesboro, Conway, Jackson, Weldon, Littleton, Macon, Norlina, Middleburg, Henderson, Kittrell, Franklinton, Youngsville, Wake Forest, Raleigh, Cary, Apex, Newhall, Moncure, Sanford, Jonesboro, Swann, Olivia, Spout Springs, and Manchester, N. C.

The Force consists of 35 officers, 630 enlisted men with 150 motor vehicles of standard and experimental types.

The column will camp at Jackson, N. C., May 13 and at Raleigh, May 14.

The purposes of this march will be:

- To test the mechanical sufficiency of its equipment;
- To determine rates of march and to test means of control of its several columns;
- To test its organization;
- To test means of march security;
- To determine requirements of individual equipment;
- To determine radius of action and fuel supply of its several types of vehicles; and
- In general, to give it the shaking down of a period of field service.

Reorganization of Quartermaster Association.—The Quartermaster Review in its March-April issue, now being distributed, announces that "The complete control and management of the Quartermaster Association and of the Quartermaster Review has now been turned over to the Reserve officer personnel of the Association." "For these officers," the announcement continues, "the situation presents at once a responsibility and an opportunity. To them is passed the major task of building up and maintaining the Association and the Review."

Maj. Gen. J. L. DeWitt, the Quartermaster General, has resigned as president, due to the law enacted by the last Congress prohibiting pay to any officer or enlisted man on the active list who should be engaged in any manner with any publication issued by or for any branch or organization of the Army or military Association in which officers or enlisted men have memberships and which carries paid advertising from firms doing business with the Government. The Quartermaster General was succeeded in his post as president by Col. William L. Conrad, QM-Res.

Inasmuch as the Association elected to continue the publication of advertising mentioned in the law, the resignations of the Quartermaster General and the other regular Army officers connected with it were necessary. In announcing his resignation, the Review stated: "Carrying out his well-known policy of compliance with the spirit of all laws enacted Maj. Gen. J. L. DeWitt, the Quartermaster General, took prompt action in tendering his resignation as president of the Quartermaster Association and in advising all other active officers connected in any way with the Quartermaster Review or in any official capacity with the Quartermaster Association to do likewise." In his letter of resignation, however, the Quartermaster General promised that he would continue his membership, as well as his great personal interest in the Association.

Describes Methods that Won Knox Trophy.—One of the many interesting articles in the March-April issue of the Coast Artillery Journal is that in which Capt. Ben Bowering, CAC, commanding Battery I, 4th Coast Artillery (Panama) describes the methods followed by him and his battery in winning the coveted Knox Trophy. Capt. Bowering presents an interesting discussion of the procedure followed, of the detailed preparations and of the painstaking analysis of drills and concludes with a splendid tribute to 1st Sgt. John F. Fern, of whom he says: "I am sure I voice the sentiment of every man in my battery, as well as that of the many former battery commanders of Battery I, when I pay tribute to the man whom I consider to have had more to do with the remarkable record which the battery has made in recent years than any other one man."

Deliveries of Talkies To Begin About June 1.—Deliveries of sound picture apparatus, long looked for by the service, will probably begin about the first of June, it was estimated at the Navy Department this week. One set of each of the three types of projectors contracted for, have already been delivered to the Navy, and are undergoing test at the moving picture laboratory in New York. Conclusion of these tests is expected by the end of the month, and is thought that it will be another month before deliveries to ships and stations can begin. The moving picture technicians schools at New York, San Diego, and Cavite will probably receive the first sets, in order that the enlisted men attending these schools, which have been under way since January, may be trained in operation and upkeep of the equipment to be used on board vessels. Thereafter, the policy of supplying the sets will be to give priority to the larger vessels and stations. Already sound films are being purchased in order that a sufficient number of pictures will be available when the projecting equipment is ready for use. Practically all of the output of the moving picture companies will be purchased once the sets are supplied. In many cases, the Navy will be able to get films for showing aboard ships before they are released commercially.

Consider Revision of Training at Navy Stations.—The training methods in vogue at the four Naval Training Stations at San Diego, Great Lakes, Newport and Hampton Roads were the subject of consideration of a board which met in the Bureau of Navigation this week. Capt. Sinclair Gannon, USN, commandant of the training school at San Diego; Capt. Gilbert J. Rowcliff, commandant at Newport; Capt. David W. Bagley, commandant at Great Lakes, and Capt. David A. Weaver, commandant at Hampton Roads, conferred with officers of the Bureau as to the advisability of reorganizing the courses of training at the schools.

B Board to Meet in Washington Next Month.—A board of general officers was ordered this week to convene in Washington, D. C., next month for the purpose of classifying officers under the provisions of section 24b of the National Defense Act. The board, which is to meet on May 18, is composed of the following: Maj. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, Maj. Gen. Fox Conner, Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, Brig. Gen. Campbell King, Brig. Gen. Edgar T. Collins, Brig. Gen. Henry J. Hatch, Maj. Robert L. Eichelberger is detailed as recorder.

Members of Three USNA Classes Eligible for Rhodes Scholarships.—Graduates of the Naval Academy classes of 1929, 1930 and 1931 will be permitted to compete for Rhodes scholarships for next year, the Bureau of Navigation announces. Last year the competition was limited to members of the first class at the Academy and graduates of the preceding year. Candidates must be at least 19 and less than 25 years old on the first of October, and unmarried. Formal request by appropriate endorsement should be made to the Bureau of Navigation for authority to enter the various state competitions. Applications must be forwarded in accordance with the instructions in Bureau Navigation Circular Letter No. 34-31, to the Bureau by May 15.

Net Loss in Merchant Marine Tonnage Suffered by U. S. While Other Nations Gain.—The following tabulation of the ocean going merchant marine fleets of the principal maritime nations of the world on January 1, 1931, appeared in a report recently completed by the Bureau of Research of the United States Shipping Board.

Two rather serious points are revealed by the table. First, that the United States has only about half of the number of ocean going merchant vessels that Great Britain has and only about half the tonnage. Second, that the United States suffered a net loss of 249,918 tons during the year, the only nation among the eleven listed who did not gain in tonnage during the year.

	Total No. ocean going vessels	Aggregate gross tons	Net increase in number of vessels during 1930	Net increase aggregate gross tons during 1930
Great Britain	3050	18,220,830	16	163,594

Chemistry and National Defense.—The Chief of Chemical Warfare Service, Maj. Gen. Harry L. Gilchrist, delivered an address at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass., on April 15. The subject of Gen. Gilchrist's talk was "Chemistry and National Defense."

Shifts in Army Assignments.—Changes in Army assignments, noted in the orders of the past week, reveal some interesting new details. Maj. Rufus S. Bratton, Inf., is to sail about Sept. 10 for Nagasaki, Japan, and from there he goes to Tokyo for duty as a student officer at the Japanese General Staff College, second year course, starting about Dec. 1. Maj. Bratton, who is now at the Command and General Staff School, will be relieved in time for his new duty.

Col. John R. Thomas, who is now Military Attache to England and the Irish Free State, stationed at London, will be relieved about Aug. 2. He has been assigned to the 5th Field Artillery at Ft. Bragg, N. C. Lt. Col. Cortlandt Parker, FA, is relieved from duty with the 78th Division, Newark, N. J., and further duty with the Organized Reserve about June 1, from whence he goes to temporary duty with the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2. Upon completion of this duty he goes to London for duty as Military Attache.

Col. Augustine McIntyre, who is now in Hawaii, has been detailed as the new president of the Field Artillery Board. He will assume this duty about Dec. 31. Another foreign assignment is duty at the Swedish Cavalry School, to which 1st Lt. Hugh B. Waddell, 3d Cav., is detailed. He will sail for Hamburg from New York about May 6, and report at Stromsholm, Sweden, about Sept. 1.

Col. Frank J. Morrow, GSC, (Inf.) retired April 1, after more than 39 years of service. Col. Hoxie Harrison Smith, Inf.-Res., has been ordered to active duty Aug. 22, and detailed captain of the Organized Reserve Rifle team. Lt. Col. Innis P. Swift, Cav., is relieved from study at the Army Industrial College and detailed instructor, Texas National Guard, San Antonio, Tex. Capt. Merle H. Davis, Ord., assigned duty in the Office of the Chief of Ordnance, on completion of course at Army Industrial College.

SERVICE SPORT NEWS

SERVICE SPORT SUMMARY

Ft. Snelling, Minn.—Company H, 3rd Inf., Ft. Snelling, Minn., finished the 1931 basketball season here without losing a single game of the 16 played, to win the silver loving cup trophy offered by the Regimental Athletic Association of which Maj. Harry J. Keeley, 3rd Inf., is in charge.

Headquarters Company, which has held the post championship for the past five years, came out in third place, while Company B placed second.

Company H was also recently awarded the Regimental Athletic Efficiency Trophy for 1930 having taken first place in baseball and hockey, second place in basketball and third place in the kittenball league.

Ft. Benning, Ga.—The "Terrible" Tankers are not so terrible. In fact, it might be said that they are mighty good. To illustrate, the "Terrible" ones set a new Benning record last Saturday by winning three championships in a single day. In the afternoon they won the garrison track and field meet by the skimpy margin of one-half a point. Then they won the tug-of-war and to make the day a perfect one, they topped it off by winning the garrison basketball championship from the Gunners in a nip and tuck battle, 36 to 28. The score at the half was 16 to 15, favor the ultimate winners.

The Doughboys cleaned up the Bowden College nine Saturday afternoon, 8 to 2. Tolle, Benning slab artist, and Jack Wray, visiting hurler, hooked up in a real pitchers' duel at Gowdy Field. Play was often brilliant, and the outcome was in doubt until the final out in the ninth.

1st Division Athletics

At Boston, Mass., March 23, the 1st Division boxing team met teams from the army posts around Boston, Coast Guard and Navy and National Guard teams.

Championship winners: 135 lbs., Pvt. Nathan Swartz, Co. C, 18th Inf. 147 lbs., Pvt. James P. McCarthy, Co. A, 18th Inf. 175 lbs., Pvt. Frank Konchina, Co. H, 16th Inf. Heavyweight, Pvt. Kenneth B. Washburn, Co. L, 16th Inf. Finalist, Pvt. Raymond F. Medina, Hq. Co., 18th Inf.

The Madison Barracks boxing squad, which is coached by Lt. Francis H. Dohs, 28th Inf., went to Ft. Ontario on March 25 and met a team representing that post on March 26. The results of the six bouts were as follows:

Damage to Private Property

REIMBURSEMENT for damage to private property incurred while moving may only be allowed when the owner is actually under travel orders, the Comptroller General rules.

In a decision made public this week, the Comptroller overrules the findings of a board of finance officers of the Army which held that reimbursement should be allowed to 1st Lt. James M. Callicutt, FA, USA, whose property was damaged while being moved from quarters at Ft. Sill, Okla., to quarters in Lawton, Okla.

At the termination of the assignment of quarters to Lt. Callicutt at the Field Artillery School, he was given orders to vacate and moved into Lawton. The board held that "while the order did not expressly direct the performance of any travel, it nevertheless necessitated the travel, as an incident of which the damage in question occurred." The Comptroller, however, overruled this view and disallowed the voucher.

NAVY WINS ON DIAMOND

In a slugfest last Saturday the Naval Academy nine pounded out a 12 to 8 victory over Fordham at Annapolis. Although both teams hit freely, the Middies made better use of their bingles, especially in two innings in which they scored four runs each. Wes Byng clouted the first homer of the season in the fifth inning, one man being on the sacks at the time. This husky blond lad led the Middies in four-base blows last season.

Englehart started his first game for the Middies and went the route, although nicked for base blows quite often, but as his team mates kept him supplied with a comfortable lead he had few worries. Navy piled up four runs in the first inning and added two in the third and fourth and topped off their scoring with a fifth inning melee which netted them another four-run lump. Fordham was dangerous only in the fourth when they bunched their hits for three runs. Their other scoring was scattered.

FT. SHERIDAN TOURNEY

Six days of thrills and excitement at Ft. Sheridan were brought to a close on March 28 with the boxing finals of the Sixth Corps Area Boxing and Basketball tournament. The Corps Area cup, symbolic of the post championship of the area, was won by Chanutte Field. Ft. Wayne scored the second highest number of points and Ft. Sheridan third. Ft. Scott, Jefferson Barracks, Ft. Brady and Selfridge Field finished in the order named.

The meet was brought to a climax when Biff Bennett, Ft. Sheridan's promising heavyweight, pounded Battling Adams of Scott Field into a state of helplessness, winning in the second round on a technical knockout. Bennett injured his right arm in the first round but continued his terrific hitting until he was declared victor.

Other boxing winners on the final night, all winners being champions in their respective classes, are:

ARMY WINS OPENER

In a close game, Army ushered in a new collegiate baseball season with a victory—an auspicious start. The opponents—the Connecticut Aggies. The score, 4 to 3. The place, West Point. The time, last Saturday.

Coughlin, who went the route for the cadets, was very effective save in the seventh and ninth innings. In the seventh, the visitors nicked the cadet for three runs, and only a double play saved him in the ninth inning when the Aggies threatened to tie the score at least.

The cadets jumped into the lead in the first inning when Conway hit for the circuit. Another run was added in the same inning and two more in the third, ending the Army's scoring for the day. Army collected 12 hits all told, while their opponents could garner only nine.

ON THE RANGES

THE exceedingly hot sun of Panama, beating down on the rifle range at Ft. Clayton on the twentieth of March, watched with interest as the rifle team of the USS Colorado shot its way to victory in the Battle Fleet Rifle Match. Her score was 2198 out of 2400 with an individual average of 274.75.

This year the Colorado team was ably led by Capt. Robinson USMC, in charge of both rifle and pistol teams and a contender in the latter, and Lt. (jg) Dahl. Dahl has extra honors laid at his feet in consideration of his excellent point and not a single point was blown away.

In the pistol matches the Colorado was well represented. Ensign Woodward was a member of the Battle Fleet Officers team with Ensign Long an alternate for any of the first team who might be unable to fire. Both the latter were in the Camp Perry Contingent last Summer. The Battle Fleet team, consisting of Lt. Comdr. Borber (SC), Lt. (jg) Haines, Lt. (jg) Vaughn (MC), and Ensign Woodward won the match easily. The next day the Battle Fleet intership matches were held in which luck turned against us and the California finished with an advantage of 1011 to 1005.

Sixth Corps Area Notes

6th CA Hdq., Chicago, Ill.
Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Commanding.

THE annual Sixth Corps Area indoor athletic meet was held at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., the week of March 23 to 28, and was won by Chanut Field, Ill., with Ft. Wayne, Mich., in second place, and Jefferson Barracks, Mo., in third place. Chanut Field won in basket ball, defeating Ft. Wayne, the 1930 champions, in a fast and interesting game, the score being 42 to 29. Boxing honors went to Ft. Sheridan. Both basket ball and boxing were keenly contested. Officials from the Illinois State Boxing Commission officiated. The meet was under the direction of the commandant of Ft. Sheridan, Brig. Gen. Manus McCloskey. Capt. Harry V. Hand, Inf., DOL, corps area athletic officer, represented the corps area commander.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the corps area, attended a luncheon given on March 24 by members of the Union League Club of Chicago, in honor of Senator Moses of New Hampshire.

On Saturday evening, March 28, Gen. and Mrs. Parker and the Misses Katherine and Ann Parker attended the finals of the Sixth Corps Area athletic meet, held at the gymnasium at Ft. Sheridan, Ill.

Gen. and Mrs. Parker entertained Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Browne, of the British Army, on Sunday, March 29, at a luncheon at Ft. Sheridan.

CMTC enrollment in the corps area continues to increase in enthusiasm and number of applications coming in daily. The corps area commander has designated CMTC bands for all camps, the selections being made from a large number of bands that had applied for such designation. The large CMT Camp at Ft. Sheridan, situated 25 miles north of Chicago, on a beautiful camp site overlooking Lake Michigan, where practically all branches of the service will be represented, will have two bands.

A special exhibition of the paintings of Betty Lane, daughter of Brig. Gen. Rufus H. Lane, Adjutant and Inspector, USMC, is on view at the Phillips Memorial Gallery, Washington, D. C.

Miss Lane was born in Washington in 1907. She studied first at the Corcoran Gallery and after some other preliminary study went to Europe for a year of painting, which she put in to much advantage. Then she went to Mexico and has been much influenced by the forms there. She has depicted the robust native types of Mexico, her "Portrait of Ruperta" and "Market Progresso," being especially pleasing. She has a clear line and works with simple planes. Her houses are among the best things that she does. Her figures are rich and her paintings well organized. She shows great promise for better things to come, for she is alert mentally and has the power to give us her impressions in an interesting manner. Her paintings will be on view through this month.

Experimental Receiver

"RADIO plays a very important part in both the peace and war time affairs of the Army," Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, Chief of Cavalry, stated recently in a signed article. The Cavalry arm has not lagged in realizing this and has successfully prosecuted radio development for its own particular need." In line with this statement is the experimental receiving set to be tested in the 1st Division Cavalry maneuvers next month in northwest Texas.

This set is a five-tube one, weighing about 14 pounds, including the batteries, and while it is only a receiver, its specific advantage is that it can be used while in motion.

The effective range of this set is about 20 miles, and it is understood that tests have already shown successful operation at a satisfactory range. The value of such a set to men on mounted reconnaissance, and for other purposes, is obvious.

Test Cavalry Equipment

Ft. Bliss, Tex.—Modern articles of equipment, now the subject of experiment under the direction of the 1st Cavalry Division Board, will be tested when the 1st Cavalry Division, under command of Maj. Gen. Ewing E. Booth, holds its 1931 maneuvers from May 19 to June 2.

The maneuvers will be held in the country between Ft. Bliss, the home station of the Division, and Alamogordo, New Mexico, 85 miles to the north.

Among the articles and methods which will be tested are the following:

To Undergo Test

The 37 mm. gun with the new Heavy mount, all carried in pack.

Medical equipment carried in squad-room packs.

Water purification equipment.

Signal equipment for armored cars.

Pack cooking outfits.

Various methods of packing water and other supplies on animals.

Sending signals by rifle grenades.

Laying of wire from automobiles.

New radio sets, including one which will permit commanders to communicate with the mounted man while he is moving at the walk, trot or gallop.

The new cavalry light machine gun, intended to replace the present machine rifles in rifle troops, will be used in maneuvers for the first time, and will give regiments a greatly increased fire power. This machine gun is air cooled and has been recently adopted. Each cavalry regiment will have, when these machine guns are received, twenty-four light machine guns and ten heavy water cooled machine guns.

In these maneuvers for the first time in the history of the American army each rifle troop will be able to furnish its own machine gun support.

Tactical Problems

These maneuvers are drawn up so as to employ, under modern conditions of warfare, all units participating. The tactical problems involved will illustrate the following:

Employment of the 1st Cavalry Division on a mission requiring high mobility.

Constant reconnaissance and the evaluation and prompt transmission of information.

Night operation.

Mountain fighting.

Use of air corps units to assist the cavalry in operations over open and mountainous terrain, both in daylight and in darkness.

Practical use of the various services of the division, such as Quartermaster, Engineer, Ordnance, Medical, Signal and Chemical Warfare.

The value of all types of transportation to the cavalry division, including motor, animal drawn and pack.

It is to be noted that the cavalry is the only arm of the service, the transportation of which includes all three of these types.

It is believed that these maneuvers will give an opportunity to the military as well as civilians who attend to observe the most modern cavalry in action over very difficult terrain and using the latest type of weapons, as well as to see the latest ideas in experimental equipment.

George W. Ratliff, jr., a non-commissioned officer of the Marine Corps was adjudged entitled to $5,001, upon a contract with the Government which was entered into in 1918.

Financial Digest

THE market, according to recent morning stock letters from E. A. Pierce and Co., appears again to be breaking down into individual situations which, from a trading standpoint, are measured to no small extent by the earnings statements for the first quarter. Westinghouse Electric on report that first three months of the year would reveal a deficit of more than $2,000,000 went to a new low for the year.

It is commonly expected that the earnings of the food companies and of the cigarette manufacturing corporations will continue to hold up relatively well but their market values have discounted this, it seems, to a considerable degree. It seems likely that long distance speculative purchases made primarily for the purpose of principal appreciation, and not for income, should be centered largely upon issues which have been thoroughly deflated in relation to past earning power and which have shown themselves capable of returning adequate profits under more normal business conditions than those now prevailing.

'Of Inestimable Value'

We received a letter a few days ago from a Captain who had availed himself of the credit facilities of this bank, in which he said:

"If granted, this will be my fourth loan with you, and thru same I have been able to furnish my home, and centralize my debts. All of which has been of inestimable value to me."

Many Army and Navy officers have availed themselves of the services of this bank. It may be that we could also serve you. Write for detailed information.

Loans are made which are repaid by monthly deposits extending over a period of twelve months.
